BIJOU GUIDE TO BATH.

THIS little manual has no pretension to be a complete and comprehensive Guide, but is intended to supply a want which must frequently be felt by visitors staying only for a short time, viz., that of a handy book of reference giving all necessary general information, which may be found without having to wade through a mass of reading matter, more interesting to the student than to the casual observer. For the origin and history of Bath and its waters the reader is referred to the larger Guides. Amongst these may be mentioned:—Bath, Old and New, by R. E. Peach; Historic Houses of Bath and their Associations, by R. E. Peach; Through and Round Bath, by F. Curtis & Sons, and Notabilia of Bath, by E. R. Blackett; to which books this Guide is indebted for much of its information.

The publishers will be grateful for any suggestions which will tend to make this little work more generally useful.

Visitors will find amateur advice a plant of prolific growth, but will be wise to go to those to whom they are addressed and get their information from a reliable source; they will be told perhaps that it is quite needless to consult a medical man at all before taking a course of the baths or waters, but the fallacy of this will be apparent when the potency of the waters is considered, for if they are powerful enough to effect the marvellous cures they have done, it will be easily understood that they are likely to do proportionate harm if improperly used.

TYLEE'S GLYCERINE-CODEIA

WITH RED ORANGE JUICE,

As recommended by Dr. Mahomed, of Bournemouth.

A delicious and most efficacious remedy for THROAT IRRITATION AND HACKING COUGH, arising from dryness of the throat, which it relieves by supplying a natural moisture to the irritated surface. It is found especially valuable for night attacks, as by its local and general soothing effect it stills the cough, and induces sleep on laying down, thus ensuring a quiet night's rest—so important to the invalid.

In the above combination the Codeia acts principally as a local sedative, without causing nausea or the ill effects which follow the use of most other sedatives. The soothing effect of Glycerine is well-known, and with the delicate flavour and acidity of the Red Orange Juice, forms a remedy at once grateful, refreshing, and effective.

GLYCERINE-CODEIA JUJUBE.

Is the most portable and convenient form. Will be found a valuable general Cough remedy.

These Jujubes are especially valuable to those who are debarred from taking ordinary cough remedies on account of the sugar they contain.

They were used and much recommended by the late H. W. Freeman, Esq., F.R.C.S., J.P.

Hot Mineral Springs of Bath.

At no former period of the city's history have the Bath Waters been so much in use as at the present time; the number of bathers, and the number of cures effected by their use has no parallel in the annals of Bath. There is no luxury, no appliance, no machinery, which has not been provided, to enable the most helpless cripples to descend into the pool to alleviate their pains, so that they may again enjoy the life which had become a burden to them.

Upwards of £40,000 have been lately expended by the Corporation of the City to enlarge and perfect the various appliances, including every modern and continental improvement, rendering them in the words of one of our greatest Hygienic Physicians of the day, the most perfect in the world.

Daily yield 507,600 gallons at 120° Fahr.

Average number of Bathers for the last 8 years, over 95,000

The Water for Bathing and Drinking is supplied direct from the Mineral Spring, the natural temperature of which is from 117° to 120° F., and when used for bathing it is reduced to the required heat by the addition of cooled Mineral Water. Tickets must in all cases be procured at the Ticket Office, adjoining the Grand Pump Room Hotel in Stall street, previous to bathing, and bathers are requested to see that their tickets are clipped by the attendant to whom they are delivered. In all cases the attendants' fees are paid at the office when taking the tickets for the Baths.

THE BATH CORN & WART CURE.

Non-Caustic and Painless in use.

Succeeds where all Plasters & Caustics have failed.

CORNS OF MORE THAN 20 YEARS' STANDING
HAVE BEEN CURED BY IT IN A SHORT TIME.

Read the following unsolicited Testimonial:—

WANTAGE, Feb. 11th, 1897.

“SIR—The Corn Cure I received a fortnight ago has cured seven old standing corns. I do not know how to thank you for such a valuable remedy. I have recommended it to a friend. Will you kindly forward a bottle to the address on the other side.”
Yours truly, M. BARDSLEY.

B Besides Hard and Soft Corns, both of which have a hard central eye, there is a third kind, soft in the centre, in which there is often a distinct hole surrounded by a hard ring; these generally occur between the toes and are always most painful, and the usual Corn Cures only render them more sensitive. The only cure for them is the Special Soft Corn Paint, prepared by TYLEE & Co.

Price 1/-, 1/9 & 3/6, by Post 1 stamp extra.

HUTTON'S FOOT POWDER.

Easy to use, Cleanly and Harmless.

Does not stain the skin nor injure the Clothing.

Keeps the Feet Cool, Healthy, and Comfortable.

Prevents Galling and all Unpleasantness,

Enables New and Tight Boots to be worn with Ease.

SIMPLY dusted into the foot of the sock, it prevents and cures overheated and tender feet, in a natural manner, without the slightest injury to health. It possesses in the highest degree those antiseptic and absorbent properties qualified to preserve the feet in a cool and healthy condition, at the same time effectually depriving them of any objectionable odour.

As a dusting powder it is unequalled, and may be used to the most delicate skin with perfect safety.

MINSTERLEY, March 2nd, 1886.

DEAR SIR,—YOUR ABSORBENT FOOT POWDER is an excellent preparation. After suffering with tender feet for years (making walking in warm weather a misery) I was persuaded to try your Powder. I can now walk 20 miles without the least tenderness or inclination to gall or blister.

I am, yours faithfully, W. H. TAYLOR

SOFTNESS
DELICACY.

IS the [most] agreeable and efficacious Dentifrice ever introduced. It contains nothing injurious nor irritating in any way, on the contrary, it has a beneficial balsamic effect on the delicate structures of the mouth, gives a healthy firmness to the gums, and imparts a delightful fragrance to the breath, whilst by its detergent properties it at once corrects any disagreeable odour arising from decayed Teeth, the use of Tobacco, etc. It cleans the Teeth in a perfectly natural manner, and preserves them in a pearly white condition. Is more cleanly, economical, and convenient than any other form of Dentifrice.

The City of Bath.

"Bath is decidedly the prettiest town in all England."—Thos. Carlyle.

"That beautiful city which charms even eyes familiar with the master-pieces of Bramante and Pallado."—Lord Macaulay.

"The only place worth living in, except Florence."—

Walter Savage Landor.

"The Queen of all the Spas in the world. There are certainly very few that can compare with it for beauty of situation, and none for magnificence of buildings."—Waagen.

"The situation of the city, surrounded as it is by hills which shade it from the north and east winds, and studded with mansions on every available part, is particularly beautiful, and the splendid views from every point of rising ground render its situation one of the most charming in England; its air is pure and mild, so that in addition to the health-giving qualities of its waters it contains everything that can be desired to attract the tourist, cheer the invalid, or rest the overworked man of business."

Dr. A. B. Granville in his work "The Spas of England" says "England does not possess a more powerful Spa nor an agent of the class of Mineral Waters more calculated to do away with the necessity of removing to a foreign watering place, for the successful treatment of some of the most obstinate cases of disease."

Lord Macaulay describes Bath as "That beautiful city, which charms even eyes familiar with the master-pieces of Bramante and Palladio;" and Lord Hervey says that "Bath undoubtedly took one of the highest places among all the cities of Europe, and certainly a very high place among the cities of the world, for architectural beauties. He did not know any place where a stranger arriving was more struck with the architectural beauty of the city than Bath."

The Globe, in an article of 30th October, 1869, said "Bath is also, with perhaps the exception of Edinburgh, the most beautiful city in the kingdom. Fastidious Savage Landor used to say that Bath was the only place habitable after Florence. The traveller who sees the English city for the first time, travelling westward, beholds it suddenly spread out before him as he emerges from a tunnel, and gazes on broad fields, stately crescents rising tier above tier, handsome villas climbing the steep hill-sides, and nestling amid the groves of beech that flourish on the free-stone soil."

For List of Drives, see page 43]

“The beauty of Bath is proverbial. Of the valley in which the city reposes, the physical features are distinctly marked and lastingly impressive. It lies in the centre of a vast amphitheatre of hills that present the most varied outlines, and every variety of light, shade and colour. In some places bold eminences rise and impend over the low-lying fields and orchards; in others, a green and gradual ascent presents a widening prospect.

“Everywhere we have a happy blending of town and country. At the end of each street verdant slopes or rugged rock meet the gaze. The sluggish Avon, tortuous as a serpent, seems to have forced an entrance for itself into this smiling Eden, and with strength and dignity effected a reluctant exit. No matter where we stand, whether on Claverton Down, rising 600 feet above the level of the sea, or on the still loftier range of Lansdown, with Beckford’s Tower, or on Beechen Cliff, or on Sham Castle, everywhere a lovely panorama is spread out before us. With such picturesque attractions, and a most genial clime, is it any wonder that many visitors frequent a spot so noted for its healing waters?”

Climate.—The air generally is mild, arising from the sheltered position of the city. Moderate westerly winds are the most prevalent. A clearer and more bracing air may be obtained on the sides of the hills, and in the suburbs, particularly on Lansdown and Combe Down. The great peculiarity in the climate arises from the fact (proved by actual observation), that while the mean temperature in winter is higher than many other places, that of the summer is found to be much lower; the range of temperature is consequently less than that of most other towns.

Abbey Church.—In the centre of the city and near the Pump-Room, owes its origin to Bishop Oliver King, appointed to this See in 1499. While this good prelate lay musing one night on his bed he fancied he saw the Holy Trinity, with angels ascending and descending a ladder, near which was a crown of olive leaves, and heard a voice proclaim, “Let an Olive establish the crown, and a King restore the church;” which he interpreted as a command given from on high to him to rebuild the church. But it was not till the 4th of Oct., 1616, that the church was completed, through the exertions of James Montague, then Bishop of Bath. The church has been recently restored under the direction of Sir Gilbert Scott, who also designed the reredos. The richly carved door in the grand or western entrance was given in 1617 by Lord Chief Justice Montague, brother of the bishop. The sculptured imagery on the western front is very much dilapidated, although it is still possible to make out on the two square towers part of the representation of Oliver King’s vision. The ladders are sufficiently distinct, but the angels on them are now shapeless masses. The arrangement, elevation and decoration of the interior of the church are pleasant and elegant. The pews are comfortable, and there is abundance of light. There are numerous interesting monuments. (See Peach’s Bath old and new.)

Ancient City Walls.—Built on the foundation of the original Roman walls, pentangular. Remains may be seen (1) at the back of the Market, where is also the mediæval archway of the east-gate, with road leading to the river; (2) in the Upper Borough Walls, opposite the Mineral Water Hospital, a few yards of the wall remain, capped by a modern battlement to preserve the same, by the late J. H. Markland; (3) a portion, now cased with ashlar, at the back of Weymouth House Schools (See “Aquæ Solis,” by Rev. H. M. Scarth. Bath: R. E. Peach.)

Assembly Rooms.—Situated near the Circus. Erected in 1771 by Wood, Junior, at a cost of £20,000. They are a magnificent suite of rooms: the ball room is 106 feet by 42 wide, and 42 high; a second room is 70 feet by 27; a third is 66 feet by 41; and a fourth, the Octagon room, is 48 feet in diameter. There are other rooms in this establishment used for various purposes, and there is generally some entertainment going on here, Variety, Concerts, Balls, Bazaars or Lectures.

It is 59 feet in length and 40 feet in width ; when filled to a depth of 4 feet and a-half it contains 51,450 gallons of water, at a temperature of 117° Fah. ; the quantity of water yielded by this spring is estimated at two hogsheads and a-half a minute.—The Cross Bath is situated at the west end of Bath Street ; it is 23 feet long by 22 feet wide, and is of an irregular form ; when filled to the depth of four feet and a-half, it contains 11,350 gallons of water. The spring supplying this bath yields half a-hogshead of water a minute, at a temperature of 104° Fah.—The Hot Bath adjoins the Royal Private Baths. It is of an octangular form. The spring supplying it yields one hogshead and a-half of water a minute, at a temperature of 120° Fah. At a depth of four feet and a-half, it holds 9,570 gallons of water. The design of this bath was by Wood, junior ; it was built in 1776, and possesses features of a highly artistic character.—The Tepid Swimming Bath, adjoining the Royal Baths, near the west end of Bath Street, for the use of gentlemen only, is 60 feet long by 23 feet wide, with a depth of four feet and a-half ; it contains 37,225 gallons of water. The temperature of this bath is reduced to an average of 88° Fah. There are six private dressing rooms and one public dressing room attached to this bath. In addition to these there are no less than thirty-six private baths in these several buildings, to all, or most, of which convenient dressing rooms are attached, with every other requisite for the comfort of the bather. The average number of bathers is over 95,000 per annum. Swimming lessons are given at these Tepid Baths to gentlemen only.

POPULAR 6d GUIDE TO BATH.

Baths (New Royal)—Erected in 1869, designed by Messrs. Wilson and Wilcox, architects, are in connection with the Grand Pump Room Hotel, and have been built by the Corporation of Bath, at a cost of about £12,000, including the purchase of houses, etc. They occupy the southern part of the site of the old White Hart Hotel, reaching from Stall Street in front to St. Michael's Place at the back, a distance of 73 yards. Externally towards Stall Street their elevation forms part of the façade of the Hotel, and corresponds with the northern wing of that building. The entrance is from the left, or south, wing of the Grand Pump Room Hotel, so that the two establishments are connected, and harmonious management assured. Entering a lofty vestibule towards the front, we find three rooms for the attendants. From the vestibule we approach an inner hall, and from thence a long, cheerfully-lighted corridor, from which the various baths on either side extend. The bathing establishment consists of six large private baths, holding about 780 gallons of water each; two douche baths; three slipper or reclining baths, holding about 220 gallons of water each; an enema bath, and a vapour and shower bath. To each of these baths are attached comfortable dressing rooms, and provision is made so that a douche can be also supplied in each of the private baths. The whole of the fittings are of the best and most modern description. The baths as well as the floors and part of the walls are lined with Godwin's encaustic tiles, which look comfortable and elegant, and are really substantial and enduring.

The private bath nearest the Grand Pump Room Hotel is arranged so that access can be obtained to it from the hydraulic lift, which commands each floor of that building. Invalids visiting the city with a view of seeking relief from its medicinal waters and staying at the Hotel can thus, from any floor, with the aid of a Bath chair, use this bath without the trouble of dressing, and in extreme cases the invalid can be lowered into the water direct from the lift by the special arrangement of an invalid chair and crane. At the end of the corridor, a flight of wide steps leads into an establishment provided especially for ladies. It consists of 5 private and 1 large public dressing rooms, from which opens the Ladies' Swimming Bath, holding 35,150 gallons of water, and is 51 ft. in length and 27 ft. in breadth, which is now used by ladies two days a week, and by gentlemen the other four days. This is a very handsome bath. The roof is of glass, supported on open wrought-iron principals. The sides, similar to the other baths, are lined with encaustic tiles. The bottom of the bath inclines at the deepest part, which is, according to the notice on the wall, 4 ft. 9 in., and at the shallow end 3 ft. 3 in. A broad flight of steps, leading from a platform, communicates with the various dressing rooms. At the eastern end is a niche, in which is a beautiful sculptured figure of a nymph bathing, presented to the Corporation by the Architects and Builders, and is from the atelier of the late Mr. Joshua Wall, by whom the Lions at the entrance of the Hotel were executed. At the western end, which is the deepest, is the plunge board. This bath is supplied by a syphon from the well of the King's Bath.

There is a private entrance to the Ladies' Swimming Bath at the end of Bath Street. The chief constituents of the Bath Mineral Waters are sulphate of lime, chloride of sodium, sulphate of soda, carbonate of lime, chloride of magnesium, silicic acid, and a small portion of iron. The diseases which are most benefited by them are gout, rheumatism, paralysis, sciatica, neuralgia, lumbago, chorea, rigid joints, dyspepsia, diseases of the liver, cutaneous eruptions, uterine complaints, and in short almost every chronic disease unattended by inflammation. Visitors to Bath are particularly requested to inspect the whole of the Baths, which may be done free of charge.

Baths (Kingston).—These Old Roman Baths are situated in York Street, near the Abbey. In the year 1755, on excavating the ground for building purposes, extensive remains of Old Roman Baths, and another hot spring of mineral water, were discovered. Appropriate baths, with dressing rooms, were constructed by the Duke of Kingston. Turkish, Vapour, Reclining, Shower, Sulphur Water, and Fumigating Baths may be had at this establishment.

Beechen Cliff.—Remarkable panoramic view of the city, from whence nearly every house in Bath may be seen.

Bladud.—As at every turn in the city one meets with this name, the stranger is naturally curious to know its meaning. Briefly, tradition says that Bladud, eldest son of Lud Hudibras (then King of Britain), having returned from Athens afflicted with leprosy, was confined to prevent him from affecting others, but escaping, he fled in humble disguise to a remote part of the country, where he obtained employment as a swine-herd in the neighbourhood of the present site of the city of Bath. Noticing that his pigs took special delight, in winter as in summer, in wallowing in a certain pool of mud and water from which a hot spring flowed, and that those which were affected with scabs, scurfs, or other eruptions of the skin, were quickly cured, he bathed himself in the same pool, and to his grateful astonishment soon recovered from his leprosy, returned to his father's court, succeeded to the throne after his father's death, built this city and made these baths. Such is the tradition, whether true or not it matters little, but it must ever be a matter of regret that he was not endowed with a more gracious name to hand down to posterity.

College, Bath.—This college, which had been some years in contemplation, was opened at Easter, 1878. It has been planned on the model of Clifton College, the curriculum, hours and regulations, being in almost all respects the same. It is founded with a view of affording Bath the same educational advantages as Cheltenham and Clifton. The school-house and college grounds, of 13 acres, are finely situated in the North Road. The Head Master is Rev. W. Yorke Fausset, M. A., late Scholar of Balliol College, Oxford, and Craven Scholar.

Grand Pump Room.—Erected in 1796. In a recess at the east end there is a marble statue of Beau Nash; at the west end is an orchestra, and at the south side is a fountain of mineral water, which is supplied direct from a spring at a temperature of 114° F. Visitors are permitted to take a glassful of these waters on payment of 2d.

Grand Pump Room Hotel.—This handsome edifice was designed by Messrs. Wilson and Wilcox, architects, of this city, and was erected in 1869. It is situated close to the Grand Pump Room, facing the west end of the Abbey. The front of the building forms three sides of a quadrangle. The bathing establishment in connection with the hotel is not only perfect, but is believed to surpass anything of the kind in Europe.

The Roman Promenade is the name given to the new building adjoining the old Pump Room. It includes, besides the promenade round the old Roman Bath, a fine concert room, smoking, reading, and ladies' rooms. A Band plays in the concert room mornings and afternoons in the winter months, also two evenings a week. Many of the antiquities belonging to the Corporation have now been removed to this building, so that altogether it is one of the most attractive features of the city.

The Guildhall, Municipal Buildings, & Technical Schools form a very imposing block of buildings in High St. The old Guildhall forms the centre, and contains the fine banqueting room and old council chamber, the walls being ornamented with some fine oil paintings. The new block on the south side includes a Police Court, Council Chamber, Mayor's Room, Barrister's Room, &c., and offices for Town Clerk and others of the Municipal staff. The Technical Schools, which are very elaborately fitted up, form the north block.

The Art Gallery is on the south side of Bridge Street, and is being erected as a Diamond Jubilee Memorial, chiefly owing to the untiring energy of Mr. Woodiwiss, J.P., the Mayor for that eventful year.

Henrietta Park.—Lately presented to the city by Captain Forester, laid out under the direction of Mr. J. W. Morris, F.L.S., and formally opened to the public on Jubilee Day, 1897.

Institution Gardens.—On the banks of the Avon and adjoining the Literary Institution and North Parade. A free performance by the Bath Military Band is given on Saturday afternoons during the summer months.

Hedgemoad Park is entered from Lansdown Road and also from the end of the Paragon. A very fine view can be obtained from the upper walks ; and there is a free band performance on Thursday evenings during the summer.

The Recreation Ground is approached from Pultney Street, and is now available for all kinds of sports. Bath has this year (1898) had its first cricket week, and nothing but the weather spoilt the success of the venture.

Mineral Water Hospital.—Erected in 1737, from the design of Wood, architect. Ralph Allen contributed £1,000 towards the erection of the original hospital, and provided gratuitously all the stone for building the same, from his own quarries. The new wing to this hospital was opened in 1861 ; Messrs. Mann and Gill, architects. Roman tessellated pavement discovered in digging the foundations of this Hospital, of the key pattern, remains in situ. There are 142 beds for poor persons from all parts of Great Britain and Ireland who are suffering from complaints for which the Bath Mineral Waters are a remedy. The building is replete with every modern convenience. Two very large day-rooms for the use of patients. A chapel of great interest in the building, decorated at a cost of £500, by the late James S. Brymer, Esq.

Royal Victoria Park.—Opened by Her Majesty (then Princess Victoria), October 23rd, 1830. West of the Victoria Gates stands the Victoria Column, erected in honour of Her Majesty's coming of age. East and west of the Column are the Russian guns. The Dell at the N.W. angle contains a collection of the choicest coniferæ. At the N.W. angle of the Middle Common is the Botanic Garden, more than 3 acres in extent, the sides of a small ravine are formed into a rockery, planted with hardy herbaceous and alpine plants, all well worth visiting. The Bath Military Band plays in the Park during the summer months ; a free concert is given on Monday evenings.

Sham Castle.—North Road, Bathwick (1½ mile). Erected by Ralph Allen, 1760, to relieve the monotony of the view of the down, as seen from his town residence, near the North Parade. Proposed site of "Queen's College," of which the terrace was commenced. In 1839, a coin of Marcus Aurelius was dug up. View of the city, with its surrounding hills, vale of the Avon, Mendips, &c.

Sydney Gardens.—Laid out with great taste. The Band plays several days a-week during the summer months; Floral and other Fêtes held here. The Kennet and Avon Canal, and the Great Western Railway, intersect these gardens. The canal and the railway are spanned by bridges, which give additional beauty and variety to these pleasure grounds. Admission 3d.

Views.—Beechen Cliff: panoramic view of the whole of the city, surrounding hills, Vale of the Avon, Lyncombe Vale, and to east of Prior Park, Widcombe and Bathwick. Camden Crescent: eastern half of the city, including Hampton Down, Sham Castle, Bathwick and Widcombe Hills, and Beechen Cliff. Johnstone Street, Laura Place: Widcombe, Prior Park, Lyncombe and Beechen Cliff. Lansdown Crescent: western part of the city, and Vale of the Avon. Orange Grove: Bathwick and Sham Castle. Sham Castle: centre of the city generally, and Vale of the Avon. Sunderland Street, Pulteney Street: Camden Crescent and Beacon Hill, also from Beacon Hill, Bathwick Hill, Warminster Road, Widcombe Hill and Terrace, and Wells Road.

Drives.

(In all cases an agreement as to price and route should be made before starting).

Visitors making only a short stay in Bath can get an excellent idea of the city and its suburbs by taking the following drives—

1.—Milsom Street, up Oxford Row, passing by the Assembly Rooms to the Circus, down Gay Street to Queen Square, through the Royal Victoria Park, along the New Road at the back or south side of Weston Road to Weston, returning through Weston Park, St. James's Square, Cavendish Place and Crescent, Lansdown Crescent to Lansdown Cemetery with Beckford's Tower, where alight for the view, and then return by St. Stephen's Church. Time about 2 hours, cost 6s.

2.—Milsom Street, Pulteney Street, up the North Road or Bathwick Hill, down Widcombe Hill, by Old Widcombe Church, to the Abbey Cemetery, up Lyncombe Valley and Greenway Lane to the back of Beechen Cliff, where alight for the view, and then return by Great Western Railway Station.

Time about 2 hours, cost 6s.

(The following have been sketched by Mr. John Chivers (Messrs. Noble & Chivers, Jewellers, New Bond Street Buildings), who will always be happy to give suggestions for other walks and drives.)

3.—Start by Wells Road (visiting Beechen Cliff for the view) and Combe Down, leaving the village by the lane leading down through Monkton Combe, returning, viâ Claverton (where visit the ancient church), re-enter the city by one of its prettiest approaches; there are many beautiful view points and bits of scenery which the driver should be asked to point out; Midford Castle, the Terraces of Claverton Old Manor House, Church and Rectory, Warleigh Manor House, Bathford Church, and in the distance, the church of Colerne, one of the highest villages in Wiltshire, will all pass in view; the Avon Valley, with its four lines of communication, road, river, canal and rail, is especially interesting. Time about 2 hours, cost 6s.

4.—Start by Gloucester Road (Lambridge), Cold Ashton and Marshfield, after passing Ashwick Hall lodge, turn to the right through Oakford to St. Catherine's, here there is an ancient church with Norman work and a fine old Elizabethan Manor House, owned by the Hon<sup>ble</sup> Mrs. Drummond, who is most courteous in allowing visitors to inspect the grounds, provided the card be left at the house. The gardens are especially interesting retaining as they do their original Elizabethan style and character. Lovers of gardens should peruse Lord Bacon's "Essay on Gardens." Do not fail to visit the pretty and interesting little church adjoining the grounds. Return through a very pretty valley, on the left is Bannerdown where the counties of Somerset, Glos'ter and Wilts meet, the exact spot being marked by the Three Counties' Stones; passing through Bath-easton, the church and several fine old houses, claim attention. Time, about 3 hours, cost 10s.

5.—Very pretty, but hilly. Over Lansdown to the Granville Monument (recording the Battle of Lansdown), in returning take the lane on the left, through Langridge and Swainswick. Time about 2 hours, cost 6s., or further on the lane to the right, through Weston being shorter, costs 5s., or returning through Beech, Upton Cheyney and Kelston, being longer, cost 7s. 6d. Time about 2½ hours.

6.—Via Wells Road (alighting at Beechen Cliff for view of city) and Englishcombe Lane, turning to the right passing to the rear of Englishcombe Barrow and through Newton or Twerton to Newbridge Hill, returning to Upper Bristol Road. Time about 2 hours, cost 6s.

7.—Leaving the city by the Prior Park Road, passing the Abbey Cemetery, Prior Park is reached; built by Ralph Allen in 1738, it is now used as a Roman Catholic College. The Park occupies a most charming position, and the upper part commands a beautiful view of the city beneath. Permission to visit must be obtained from the Principal, The Rev. Monseignor Williams. Return by Combe Down and Bathwick or North Road, preferably the latter. Time about 2 hours, cost 5s.

8.—BADMINTON.—Seat of Duke of Beaufort. Fine house and park, noted kennels and stables, may be visited at any time and the house by permission from housekeeper. Favourite excursion, 15 miles. Cost, by arrangement. Portcullis Hotel, excellent accommodation.

The times and prices are given by Mr. James Stuckey, York House and Grand Hotel Mews, who will be happy to furnish Carriages at these prices.

MEDICAL PRESCRIPTIONS

entrusted to TYLEE & Co. will at all times be dispensed with the greatest care and with only the best drugs and chemicals, while the charges will be found to be most moderate.

The patronage of Visitors is respectfully solicited.

One day return Summer Excursions by rail to places worth visiting.

Bradford. A quaint little town in the Avon valley very interesting to Antiquarians; it contains the only perfect specimen of the primitive Romanesque style of architecture remaining in England and perhaps in Europe, that of St. Laurence, founded by St. Aldhelm in the early part of the 8th century: within only about sixty years of the 1st landing of St. Birinus, the Apostle of Wessex, to preach Christianity in England. Kingston House, now called "The Hall," is a fine specimen of Elizabethan style. The grounds may be visited by permission from Mr. Moulton, the present occupier. On the Old Bridge is a chapel of St. Antoine, now closed up.

{ Berkeley. The Castle & Kennels. (Lord Fitzhardinge)
{ Severn Bridge. G.W.R. Monday & Thursday, 2/6

Bowood. (Marquis of Lansdowne) Fine house, park and lake; gardens may be visited by permission. G.W.R. to Black Dog siding, 18 miles; good walkers should return viâ Golden Gates and Derry Hill to Chippenham, 3 miles, and take rail or a fine walk by Golden Gates, Sandy Lane, Bowden Hill, Lacock (fine Abbey) to Corsham, 10 miles and return by rail.

{ Bristol. Cathedral, St. Mary's Redcliffe and St. Stephen's Churches and { Clifton. Suspension Bridge, Observatory, Downs, Zoological Gardens. Tram cars start from the Joint Station for all parts. Both Bristol and Clifton can be done in one day, but it is better to devote one day to each. 12 miles. G.W.R. and M.R.

Cheddar. Cliffs and Stalactite Caves. G.W.R. Excursions Monday and Saturday, 2/6

Clevedon. Pretty seaside resort on Bristol Channel. G.W.R. Excursions Monday and Saturday, 2/6

Corsham. G.W.R., 9 miles. The Court (Lord Methuen), fine collection of pictures, may be seen by permission from steward; lake and park always open.

Forest of Dean, various parts. See excursion bills.

Freshford. Take train to (7 miles G.W.R.) and walk via Iford and through the meadows to Farleigh Castle, visit the Chapel, on to Norton St. Philip, where there is a fine Elizabethan Inn, through the lanes to Wellow (visit the church) an exceedingly pretty walk, about 9 miles; home by train or walk, 6 miles G.W.R.

Glastonbury and Wells. 6 miles apart by rail, may be made a day excursion on Mondays. S. & D. Rail, 2/6. Glastonbury Abbey and the Tor are very interesting.

Limpley Stoke. Take train to (6 miles G.W.R.) and walk to the top of Stoke Hill, turn to the right through a very pretty lane to Midford; Midford Castle on right hand side of valley, or from the station through Monkton Combe to Midford; train or walk home 4 miles, total distance about 6 or 8 miles according to route.

Longleat. (Marquis of Bath) everyone should visit; 17 miles by road, or G.W.R. to Frome, 22 miles, and walk to park, very fine mansion; go through park to Heaven's Gate and on to Sheerwater Lake, returning to Warminster, a lovely walk, about 10 miles; rail home, 22 miles or reverse the route.

Wells. Cathedral, Bishop's Palace, St. Cuthbert's Church. A very pleasant way of getting to Wells is by Somerset and Dorset Rail to Masbury, a high point of the Mendip Hills, and walking down the hill to Wells, 3 miles, return same way, costing, Saturday afternoons, 1/-

Weston-super-Mare. A favourite seaside resort with one of the finest esplanades in the Kingdom. G.W.R. 30 miles. Monday and Saturday, 2/6
